Date:05.03.20

Venue: Community hall, Ambajipeta

Faculty:Dr.Aruna Kumari

Number of students attended: 8

SUMMARY:

By putting the old saying "PREVENTION IS BETTER THAN CURE" into practise, it became clear that entering the dangerous world of tobacco abuse would lead to a downward spiral of declining financial stability and negative health. They were given an academic explanation of the range of illnesses brought on by tobacco use in order to dispel any lingering doubts they may have had about the subject. The importance of resolutely avoiding peer pressure and staying away from this prohibited road was also emphasised.

There were 90 women and 160 men in the 250 participants that were screened. An age range of 6 to 17 years was present in the population that was screened. An extremely high prevalence of dental caries and dental plaque-induced gingivitis was observed, which is in line with the screening results' broad findings.

AWARENESS ON ORAL HEALTH AND DENTAL SCREENING CAMP

Date:21.02.20

Venue: Pulletkuru

Faculty:Dr.Aruna Kumari

Number of students attended: 12

SUMMARY:

Any neglect could result in a fatal situation because oral health is so important. Regular dentist checkups are necessary for improved oral hygiene practises. To address this issue, the Department of Public Health Dentistry at Kims Dental College set up free dental clinics in a number of Amalapuram-area communities. We looked at people who were between the ages of 15 and 45. Utilizing audio-visual resources, an interactive discussion about dental health was conducted. The majority of the cases among the people were determined to be dental caries and gingivitis brought on by dental plaque.

ORAL HEALTH AWARENESS AND SCHOOL DENTAL CAMP

Date:01.02.20

Venue: Mobarlipet

Faculty: Dr.Kondala Rao

Number of students attended: 10

SUMMARY:

A dental screening camp and a resounding discussion of the many facets and sophistication of oral health were organised by the Department of Public Health Dentistry. Numerous records of dental plaque-induced gingivitis and dental caries were created, but there were also a few recherché records made, including those of congenitally absent teeth, enamel hypoplasia, and malocclusions. It was fiercely argued that oral diseases are not insignificant, and the significance of maintaining good oral health was emphasised. The attendees were repeatedly reminded of this essential truth: the mouth cavity plays a significant role in the mirroring and modulation of systemic disease.

AWARENESS ON CHRONIC STRESS AND DENTAL SCREENING CAMP

Date:21.12.19

Venue: Z.P.High School, Vemavarapupadu

Faculty: Dr.Rama Sharma

Number of students attended: 8

SUMMARY:

The Department of Public Health Dentistry conducted dental screening camp along with providing adequate knowledge regarding the chronic stress being underwent by the present-day generation. Of the 55 people screened, the gender distribution was almost the same and were between the age of 10-20 years. The major findings observed are the dental caries and the Chronic Generalized Gingivitis.

There is no need for conscious reflection to recognize the rising incidence of stress in society. This overarching, pernicious state of mind, which has stumbled to its apotheosis in society and is now tying everyone from toddlers to octogenarians to it, is the result of various aspects of daily life. The negative and decadent effects it has on human beings' ability to function healthily were carefully explained. Chronic long-term systemic problems and stress-induced exacerbations of diseases were highlighted.

TOBACCO AWARENESS AND DENTAL SCREENING CAMP

Date:08.08.19

Venue: Gram Panchayat, Cheyyeru

Faculty Dr.Karteeek

Number of students attended: 5

SUMMARY:

The Department of Public Health Dentistry planned a dental screening camp in conjunction with a programme to reduce tobacco use, abuse, and misuse. the group being screened ranged in age from 15 to 30. Out of the 78 people screened, 40 were men and the remaining were women. Upon screening, excessive amounts of gingivitis caused by tooth plaque and dental cavities were discovered. It goes without saying that today's descendants will make up tomorrow's present. In keeping with this philosophy, a vigorous campaign against cigarette use was directed toward the society's brightest young people. They were taught in a captivating and logical way how to avoid being seduced by the egregiously unjust social demagogue of tobacco.

More attention was placed on the well-known effects of tobacco and its ability to cause cancer.
