Faculty: Dr.Anusha, Assistant Professor

Date:28/2/18

Phone no.9885813666

Summary:

A workshop was conducted on extraction decision by Dr.Anusha in the department of orthodontics. It started with a lecture followed by a workshop. The decision for extraction of teeth for orthodontic treatment is enforced by theoral hygiene, carious teeth, periodontal involvement, impacted teeth, supernumeraries, hypodontia, or for orthognathic purposes. Extraction or non-extraction is an issue that we face in our daily orthodontic practice. Student has tobe aware of all the treatment methodology and decision making.

Summary:

When choosing an indirect restorative material, it is important to take into account the material's composition, physical and mechanical characteristics, processing techniques, and therapeutic indications. Aesthetics and durability cannot be combined by practitioners because of the development of new, stronger materials. The enormous improvements in digital manufacturing methods are altering how healthcare is provided. Students must be aware of all these materials.
